Item 6d: Shared facilities

To be most effective, it is important that the Monarch Bear Institute be based in San Francisco. As a start-up organization, it currently has no funds to rent office space. Dr. Karr has agreed to provide temporary work space to the Institute within his offices in San Francisco.

Once the Institute has funds available, if the Board of Directors approves it, there will be a rental agreement between the Institute and Dr. Karr. The rent will be based upon then-current office rent market rates. Since there might be a conflict of interest, Dr. Karr will not participate in the Board vote on this rental agreement.

Item 6g: Paid directors

No director will be compensated for his or her service as a member of the Monarch Bear Institute board of directors. From time to time, directors may, upon their request, be reimbursed for expenses directly related to their board service.

Initially there will be no paid employees. As soon as financially possible, the Institute will hire a part-time administrative assistant.

Eventually, the Monarch Bear Institute will expand to the point that it will require the attention and leadership of a paid executive director. The organizers of the Monarch Bear Institute believe that Dr. Karr is uniquely qualified to serve as that executive director. He currently serves as a director. It is possible that the Board would want him to continue his service on the Board and add the position of executive director to his responsibilities. This decision would be based upon a careful review of the needs of the position and thorough discussion by Board members, including discussion in the absence of Dr. Karr.

Item 7d: Statement describing specific purposes

We strive to help people to remember and practice the belief that all arts are at their core inspirational and spiritual in nature. Art is a primary spiritual process of healing connection, inspiration and transformation. It is our goal to help our human culture, particularly those of us living in California, to reclaim the conscious spiritual nature of all arts: poetry, music, dance, film, visual arts, theater, writing, and so on. In ancient and traditional cultures, the arts functioned to connect us in community. Everyone was to express their spirit-given talents. This reconnection is vital to restoring a sense of wonder and community in our modern world, for all peoples.

Item 7e: Detailed description of programs and activities

In order to accomplish our purposes, we have the following specific programs planned. As these develop and funding sources emerge, we may include other projects or expand the scope of current activities.

1. To protect the Monarch Bear Grove, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, and make it a model project, similar to the National AIDS Memorial Grove, for public land restoration and sacred use. To launch this effort, a documentary film “Honoring the Monarch Bear,” is currently in production, thanks to a remarkable outpouring of volunteers. In helping Californians to remember the Monarch Bear (who was an actual bear, memorialized on the state flag), we hope to facilitate their remembering the incredible wonder of pristine California, and the creatures and native people who lived here in harmony in this paradise on earth. In addition to educational programs and active stewardship of the Grove, we plan to make regular grants to support the Grove’s maintenance and protection.
2. To make a series of films for general release, broadcast and educational distribution, dealing with the history and ecology of California, focusing initially on the Monarch Bear, the last wild Grizzly of California, who was the model for the bear on the State Flag of California. This will be followed by other documentaries dealing with the greater issues of note to the State of California and their historical origins. The filming and production are creative acts in themselves.
3. To develop methods, means and the will to preserve sacred lands through land trusts, contributions of land, and stewardship of sacred sites. We anticipate artistic endeavors including compilations of poetry, drawings, paintings, musical and other celebratory means to honor and connect to the spirit and wonder of the land. In addition, a portion of the funds raised by the Monarch Bear Institute will be used to maintain and preserve, eventually even acquire for public benefit, these sacred sites.
4. To develop a “Teachers Circle” to encourage and enable various teachers and elders to work together in presenting programs, workshops, and institutes; and to promote their individual learning opportunities, including ecospiritual, poetic, artistic, and other creative endeavors. This circle will work to educate the general public to the importance of recognizing and preserving sacred resources and living in harmony with them.
